Caucasian army is closing in on the Turkish Black sea flank, where the Ottoman troops are reported to be in a dangerous plight. From the same source comes a report that the British army in Mesopotamia has met with success while advancing on Baghdad.

NOTABLE GAINS
CLAIMED BY GERMANS.
Berlin, January 26.—(By Wireless to London.)—The German war office, in its statement given this afternoon, says that two strong points of support in the possession of the English had been captured by German troops yesterday in a general assault on the English positions near La Bassee. The test of the communication reads:

"In the western theater the enemy, following his custom, placed Middlekerke and Westende (in Belgium) under attack. Large numbers of the inhabitants were killed or injured by this fire including the burgo-master of Middlekerke."

"Our losses yesterday, were small. Our troops advanced to the position of the English on both sides of La Bassee canal. While the attack to the north of the canal was repulsed, the German troops did not lead to the capture of the English position. On the other hand, a strong flanking movement, an attack of the troops from Haden, to the south of the canal, met with considerable success in this region English positions extending for over a mile were captured. (1,100 yards) were taken by storm and taken prisoners were 100 British soldiers and three machine guns were captured."

"The English advanced in vain to recapture the positions, which had been immediately employed for our own purposes, but they were beaten back with heavy losses. Our losses were comparatively small."

"Battle successful for our troops took place on the heights of Cranon, to the southeast of Laon. In the attack of the French in the southern part of the Argonne were repulsed. More than fifty prisoners fell into our hands."

"In the eastern theater, the Russian attacked position of the German troops to the northeast of Gumbinnen (in Prussia) without success. The artillery duel took place on the rear of the front. The Russian troops were repulsed. The Russian troops were repulsed. The Russian troops were repulsed."

"Less important engagements to the northeast of the front. The Russian troops were repulsed. The Russian troops were repulsed. The Russian troops were repulsed."

"Nothing of importance has happened in the west of the Russian front, to the east of the Pilsa river. The Russian troops were repulsed. The Russian troops were repulsed. The Russian troops were repulsed."

RUSSIA IN THE WAR TO THE VERY LAST

Premier Sazanov States Government's Position—Speaks of Britain's Burden.

Petrograd, January 26.—(Via London.)—The Russian premier, Prince Sazanov, in a long and eloquent statement to the Duma today, declared that as long as a single soldier of the Russian army remains on Russian soil no peace will be considered.

In these words Sazanov at a meeting of the ways and means committee of the Duma today answered inquiries propounded by leading members of the Duma. These inquiries were suggested by the determination said to have been reached by the German government that all territory "redeemed by German blood" and now occupied by Germany should be retained.

The committee meeting was preparatory to the opening session of the Duma on February 10 and 11 of next month. The statement of Sazanov was a declaration of the Russian position in the war.

"The Russian position is clear," he said. "We are not going to give up a single inch of territory. We are not going to give up a single inch of territory. We are not going to give up a single inch of territory."

LONG NIGHT SESSIONS TO STOP FILIBUSTER

Democrats to Wear Out G. O. P. Opposition to Ship Purchase Measure.

Washington, January 26.—Administration leaders in the senate, asserting that the republicans were filibustering a bill to purchase ships, determined today to wear out the opposition in long night sessions. One had been planned for tonight, but it was abandoned at a courtesy to Senator Jallinger, the minority leader, who had spoken for several hours and had not concluded his remarks.

After an executive session the senate resumed on session late in the day when the night session pronounced that was delivered by Majority Leader Kern.

"It is fair to minority senators as well as to the democrats," said Senator Kern. "To state that the majority proposes to meet what we believe to be a filibuster against this bill by holding night sessions, or saving ourselves to do so tonight, or the minority leader, Senator Jallinger, is tired, and out of courtesy to him, we will defer our water until after he has resumed tomorrow."

Senator Jallinger declared he was not a sick man and insisted that he was ready to proceed. The majority insisted, however, that their decision to hold night sessions was not a courtesy to Senator Jallinger, and the senate resumed until 11 o'clock to hear the plan of the democrats to hold a quorum until a late hour in the morning.

Democratic senators were aroused to action after the vote was taken to speed for business for the first time in ten days. By the vote the senate opened the long journal of proceedings as well as speeches on various subjects, including the introduction in the congressional record.

"MY HEALTH IS PERFECT"

So Says a North Carolina Lady in Telling What She Owes to Cardui, The Woman's Tonic.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—Mrs. Ada Hull, of this place, says: "About six years ago I got in very bad health. I suffered terrible pains in my abdomen and back. I dreaded to see the sun rise and I dreaded to see it set, for I suffered such agony. No one except myself ever knew how badly I suffered. The doctor said I was suffering as a result of the menopause."

As nothing gave me any relief, I asked the doctor if I might better try Cardui. He said, 'It might help you,' and told my husband to get me a bottle. At this time I was so weak, I could not lift my head, and my voice was so weak, people had to lean towards the bed to hear what I said. I looked so bad and had such a dark color that I looked like a dead woman, and my relatives thought I would never get up again."

I took one bottle of Cardui and it relieved the pain and suffering so much that my husband got another bottle, and that improved me still more. I began to strengthen and gradually got well. I have now had better health for six years, than I ever had in all my life. I have taken no medicine since, and my health is perfect."

Cardui is the finest medicine a woman could use."

When Croup Comes

Treat Externally

The old method of dosing delicate little stomachs with nauseous drugs is wrong and harmful. Try the external treatment—Vick's "Vapo-Rub" Salve. Just rub a little over the throat and chest. The vapors, released by the body heat, loosen the choking phlegm and ease the difficult breathing. A bottle application insures sound sleep. 25c, 50c, $1.00.

LaGrange, Ga., January 26.—(Special)—Clayborne, colored, who killed Lam Anderson, another negro, on October 23 and shot his way out of a prison, was apprehended by Sheriff and E. B. Edmondson, constable. A proclamation had been issued by Governor Slaton offering $100 for the capture and delivery of Edwards with sufficient evidence to convict.

It is reported that Edwards and Anderson had a misunderstanding in a "camp" game and on October 23 Edwards went to the field where Anderson was at work and shot him down. Co-operation

"Bear Ye One Another's Burdens" can be applied with much profit to many phases of our existence---and this practice would make for perfection.

This, however, is not what we are asking. We are endeavoring to make the men, women and children of Georgia realize that we all have a community interest which has a vital bearing on our personal welfare. It is of prime importance to each of us to attempt to keep our money at home---assist in the upbuilding of our Home Enterprises of every character, thus furnishing employment for our Home Labor.

If we buy Home Products, we are reasonably sure of the best in quality at a fair price---we make a good trade to start with---we keep our money where we are apt to get it again---we contribute to the prosperity of our friends, neighbors and State---we put the unemployed in the way of work, and we close out our Charities for the want of an excuse.

SUNNY SKIES TO PUT END TO MURKY DAYS

Today Will Be Clear and Warmer, According to Official Forecast.

As long as there are such things as storms in the skies and divorce courts on the globe there will be divorce scandals and weather stories.

This is a weather story. There are a few qualifications for a weather story. First, yesterday's weather. Second, today's prospects. It isn't considered superfluous to add to tomorrow's.

Tomorrow's outlook, however, isn't a technical necessity. Nobody ever expects the weather man to be seen enough to look more than twenty-four hours ahead.

To proceed with the story: Tuesday's weather was eminently uncertain. It resembled a woman on bargain day, in that it didn't seem to know what to do. It blossomed with a bit of sunshine, then clouded up. At noon the sun was obscured by forlorn clouds, and the air was chilly. By nightfall the temperature had moderated, but the clouds were still in evidence.

The weather man was undecided between snow and rain. Pedestrians who had been expecting anything from sunshine to a cloudburst, got to a point where they were indifferent toward whatever might happen. The day, however, passed without event. Overcast to the blue.

And now we come to today. The weather man says it will be fair and slightly warmer. If he means by this that it will be warmer than yesterday's, the weather man is not overcautious.

It is really as fair as he predicts. It will be as ideal as early spring.

January of this year has set so many precedents for varied weather that even the weather man isn't surprised if a headliner. There have been cold snaps, abundant rain, spring temperatures in plenty and snow and ice in the air.

Tomorrow's weather? Well, that happens to be another story.

Creator and Famous Band At Auditorium Next Week

Taking advantage of an unexpected opportunity, the Atlanta Music Festival association, through its president, Colonel W. L. Peel, closed a contract by wire Thursday to bring Creator and his famous band to Atlanta for two concerts in the Auditorium, matinee and night, Thursday, February 4.

It will be recalled that the music festival association brought Creator here a couple of years ago, and that his concert was one of the most popular musical events in the history of Atlanta.

As a musician Creator takes rank with the foremost conductors of the day and his organization is well known.

One of the leading features of Creator's band is the marvelous precision of its members. Every chord is played as if by a single instrument, and that with a crispness that is almost startling. Another feature of the band is the splendid crescendo effects.

Strange as it may seem, the leader plays heavy programs without a guide him and the band's repertoire is one of the most extensive known.

Anybody who has ever heard Creator's band give selections from the operas in their memory as it never lived before, the music is so good that the points of a composition is unprecedented and his almost hypnotic control of the orchestra is a rare quality.

PENS LETTER TO WIFE AND TRIES TO SUICIDE

Avery Drinks Poison in Cell in Tower After Dressing for His Funeral.

After having clothed himself in neat fashion for funeral purposes, J. D. Avery, a prisoner in the Tower, quickly lay down upon his bunk in a cell yesterday afternoon, penned a farewell message to his estranged wife, and drank poison.

It was discovered unconscious and in a dying condition by another prisoner, who, after heroic efforts, managed to revive him and restore consciousness.

Avery was arrested several days ago after a spectacular taxicab trip with his wife, who is seeking a divorce and with whom he has been enjoying from communicating. Staying from her, he carried her away in a rented machine, by neighbors who had been sent in pursuit by police.

He was sent to the jail from police headquarters. For days he had been a despondent mood, and his low spirits had excited the attention of the police. He had been seen in the morning, after carefully brushing his hair, to the police, the nature of which he refused to divulge.

The note to his wife told of his sorrow at being separated from her, and declared his life to be a drag without her.

In his note that he had dressed himself presently for death, and that he wished her to assume direction of the funeral and burial.

From Dougherty Chaingang

Albany, Ga., January 26.—(Special.)—Three white convicts, Carl Hightower and James Williams, escaped from the Dougherty county chaingang last night after cutting a chain which bound them together in the stocks at the county farm.

They scaled a high fence and were gone when a guard who was alerted by the cries of another white prisoner reached the place.

The fourth prisoner refused to take advantage of the opportunity to get away. Thus far the pursuit of the escapees has been barren of results.
